The main thrust of the trip is a 3 day stay at the US Space and Rocket Centre in Huntsville, Alabama. where the Corporate Programs immerse participants in the role of astronaut or fighter pilot, by combining team activities, state-of-the-art simulated training and missions, outdoor challenge courses and classroom sessions.

The training supplies team-oriented experience, key business skills are reinforced for a more effective learning process: leadership, communication, decision-making, trust and integrated planning are all put to the test and you can see which senior executives have "The Right Stuff".

It's a place where business suits are replaced with flight suits, cellular phones are exchanged for throttle controls and you're calling the shots from the seat of a high-performance jet or launching the most sophisticated vehicle ever created by mankind. These team building activities are out of this world

This tour can be tailored.

The suggested itinerary below can be easily modified to suit your needs and available time.

After training the group can spend a couple of days exploring either New York or Washington, maybe catching up with overseas contacts, or relax and recuperate with 2 nights at the Luxor hotel in Las Vegas, before returning to the rigors of the business world.

I guarantee your team will never be the same!
